

MDCFUG Lunch

Posted At : March 20, 2008 3:19 PM | Posted By : Matt Weiss

Related Categories: Lunch

We want to improve MDCFUG by making more social events. In addition to the user group meetings held at TeraTech every second Tuesday of the month, we want to accommodate people who cannot make it to Rockville due to where they live, or are simply too tired to do so in the evenings. TeraTech will begin hosting informal lunches during the work week, just as a way to relax and network with other people in the field.

The first of these ColdFusion lunches will be held at the Cosi at 17th and Pennsylvania in NW Washington, DC (about three blocks south of the Farragut West Metro stop on the Blue/Orange line) at 1:30 pm on Monday, March 31st. The only cost is that of your own respective lunch, and it is a great chance to talk shop with like-minded folks. Would you like a ColdFusion Lunch closer to you? Let me know where you work and we can work something out. Contact Matt (Matt (at) TeraTech.com) for all inquiries and comments. I'm looking forward to seeing all of you there!